the complete online leisure and tourism information service that covers leisure, recreation, sport, hospitality, tourism and culture

what is the Leisure Tourism Database?

At its core is our abstracting and indexing database. Updated weekly, the database supplies bibliographic information and abstracts for all aspects of leisure and tourism, including policy and planning, education and training, travel, sports, hospitality, the arts and entertainment. The natural environment and ecotourism, recreational activities and cultural heritage are key areas covered by the resource.

The Leisure Tourism database (a subset of CAB Abstracts) contains:

- over 97,000 research summaries covering the last 30 years, sourced from over 6,000 serial publications, plus books, reports and conference proceedings
- weekly updates, with over 18,000 new records added in the past three years
- literature from all over the world ### who uses it?

An essential resource for anyone in the tourism industry, including researchers working in academic and corporate organizations, students, teachers and trainers, consultants and advisers, industry professionals and decision makers in tourism associations and government departments.

why use it?

- you don't have to scan the ever-increasing scientific literature or all the news sources – we've done it for you
- you'll find it easy to track down research that matters to you, because we've tagged all the important concepts
- as well as the best-known journals, we cover publications that other databases do not include
- news articles and short reviews help make sense of the vast amount of data

subscribe to the Leisure Tourism database and benefit from:

- up-to-the-minute access to research developments in leisure, recreation, sport, hospitality, tourism and culture
- incisive overviews of critical topics
- news reports on scientific, business and political issues affecting you ### take advantage of:

- flexible searching and browsing options to help users carry out the search most suited to their needs and levels of expertise, including "Quick", "Advanced" and "Expert" searches, and a browse function for users without a specific search in mind
- enhanced search-management functions, so users can improve search results using "Refine" and "Related records". Additionally, users can mark specific records to refine, export to disc, email, print or export to bibliographic software such as EndNote, ProCite and Reference Manager
- CAB Thesaurus, the essential tool for indexing and retrieving information that allows users to search the database in a far more systematic and specific way than simply searching on free text
- from abstract to CABI Full Text in just one click
- OpenURL compliance and support to serve libraries who wish to select and customise the links of most value to their users
- users can also link to full text journal articles through CrossRef and PubMed Central, link to articles via PubMed and Google, or link to document-delivery suppliers such as the British Library, CISTI and Infotrieve
